

GREEN ACOUSTICS WITH AMF MINERAL FIBRE CEILINGS

AMF has been awarded the prestigious Blue Angel eco-label for three of its most popular suspended ceiling ranges. The award of the Blue Angel confirms AMF's philosophy and efforts to produce environmentally friendly products that help to create healthy, attractive and sustainable interiors.

The AMF Thermatex range inherently provides excellent acoustic and fire protection properties. The award of the Blue Angel strengthens their position as a suitable choice for any commercial application, but particularly for education and healthcare projects where sustainability and environmental factors are of increasing importance to stakeholder's.

The AMF Head office is situated in Grafenau near the Bavarian National Park... and in the midst of the largest woodland area in Central Europe. AMF is committed to the environmentally friendly manufacture of safe products and owns the single largest mineral wool board plant in Europe and one of the most modern in the world. AMF exports over 70% of what it produces and is one of the most significant manufacturers of high-density mineral wool tiles and performance ceilings worldwide.

Exclusively distributed in KZN by PELICAN SYTEMS

Successful local projects include:

Entabeni Hospital, Gatemax, the Royal Hotel, Reutech, the Master Builders Association, ICP, Durban University of Technology, Richards Bay University, Woolworths Pavilion and FNB Pinetown.

The Blue Angel Eco-Label for AMF Products:

- THERMATEX
- ACOUSTIC RANGE
- ECOMIN

AMF performance ceiling tiles are distributed exclusively in KZN by Pelican Systems.

PERFORMANCE CEILINGS
More scope for innovation

For more information on AMF products, visit www.pelican.co.za or contact Janine Drew: T: 031-563-7307 | C: 071-686-5803 | E: janinine@ubspromo.co.za